OVERVIEW

Redwood Group is a leading independent compliance and governance provider operating across multiple jurisdictions. A long-standing client of Zenzero, we support Redwood with a range of information security services, including cyber security awareness training, vCISO, and Cyber Essentials.

CHALLENGE

As a leading independent compliance and governance provider operating across multiple jurisdictions, Redwood Group recognises that client trust depends on strong information security. With increasing regulatory requirements and rising client expectations around cyber resilience, the business needed a proactive approach to security – one that engaged staff at every level, reinforced board-level governance, and provided external expertise to stay ahead of evolving risks.

SOLUTION

We partnered with Redwood Group to deliver tailored information security services designed to strengthen protection and embed best practices across the business. Regular cyber security awareness training – through monthly bite-size sessions and annual in-person workshops – ensures staff remain confident, engaged, and up to date with the latest threats.

To reinforce governance, Redwood engaged Zenzero's vCISO service, giving the board direct access to expert consultancy, policies, and procedures. This has been invaluable in responding to vendor management questionnaires and demonstrating strong controls to clients and regulators. Zenzero also supported Redwood in achieving Cyber Essentials certification, further evidencing its commitment to robust security.

“

I would without a doubt recommend Zenzero to any business looking to strengthen their cyber security – and regularly do!

Results

With Zenzero's support, Redwood Group now benefits from a comprehensive, proportionate security framework that protects sensitive data, meets compliance requirements, and strengthens client relationships. A proactive security culture, shaped by board-level leadership and reinforced by regular training, ensures the whole team plays its part. Meanwhile, the vCISO service and Cyber Essentials certification provide reassurance to both customers and stakeholders, giving Redwood a competitive edge in winning new business.
